

THE SUNDAY TIMES

Eye Of The Storm (www.montrosepictures.co.uk)

The landscape painter James Morrison, who died last year, aged 88, is genial, civilised company in this documentary – which was made while he was coming to terms with failing eyesight – and the film complements his charm with lovely images. Several of his paintings are shown, and we view some of the terrains – chiefly in eastern Scotland – that inspired them. Dir: Anthony Baxter (2021) (EP)
